Commencement at Colby.

MEMORIAL DAY IN BELFAST.

According to custom, details from Thomas H. Marshall Post, G. A. R. and Camp A. E. Clark, S. of V. visited the cemeteries in the morning and decorated the graves of all soldiers and sailors with the cedar spray and cut spring flowers. In Grove Cemetery the graves of sleeping comrades were marked with the flags and floral offerings. Unusual care had been taken with the G. A. R. lot and with the decoration of the mound for the "Unknown Dead."

At 1.30 p. m. the procession started from the Memorial building, the Sons of Veterans acting as escort to the Post, Circle and Auxiliary, who rode in buckboards and carriages. The line of march was over Church to Miller street, up Miller street to Congress street, over Congress street to Main street.

At the cemetery the usual exercises were held in accordance with the Grand Army ritual. On returning to Memorial hall the announced program of exercises was carried out, with the exception of the Assembly and Taps, which were omitted because of the absence of Roy Coombs. The audience sang America with enthusiasm. Adjutant Thomas Gannon read the General Orders and the Roll of Honor. Chaplain J. C. Putnam extended the address of welcome; Mrs. S. A. Parker read with feeling and expression "Decorating the Graves of the Blue and Gray;" Leon Beckwith sang "The Sleeping Sentinel;" Rev. Arthur A. Blair delivered an address on the gratitude we should have for the members of the Grand Army, for the part they took in preserving our Union and the subsequent influence they had exerted on the free home, the school and the ballot. Miss Katherine E. Brier sang "The Beautiful Isle of Somewhere;" Mrs. A. K. Fletcher read Lincoln's Gettysburg speech, and Herbert A. Drinkwater rendered a trombone solo. Thus closed the exercises, which despite the unfavorable weather were successfully carried out in every detail, and all felt that the day had been fittingly observed.

At the request of Supt. W. B. Woodbury all the schools devoted some time Thursday to the sentiment of Memorial day. The North and South schools had regular programs and in the higher grades selections and quotations were interspersed with the regular work.

Death of Roland E. Rhoades.

PITTSFIELD, June 2. As a result of taking several doses of poison in the past few days, Roland E. Rhoades died at his home near Belfast on North Main street, Monday morning.

Rhoades was a jeweler and was well-known in this section. He was for some time in business in Belfast. Last Thursday his wife took her 18 months old son and went to Brooks for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Flaggs. It is said that Rhoades became despondent and took a dose of poison Thursday. He took another dose Sunday afternoon, which proved fatal, the end coming Monday. Rhoades, when a young man, was considered something of a genius. He invented several articles and some of them were sold for a good sum. He is survived by a wife, who has been notified of his death, a son, daughter, and one brother. His age was about 47 years.

Miss Marian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Knowlton, arrived May 27th from Sea Breeze, Fla., where she spent the winter with her aunt, Mrs. H. L. Kochersperger.

OBITUARY.

Ellen M., widow of the late Jewell J. Kennedy, died Sunday afternoon, May 25th, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. B. L. Aborn, in Knox. She had been a semi-invalid for the past two years with diabetes, which finally terminated in paralysis. All that the best medical assistance, willing hands and loving hearts could do was done to prolong the dear mother's life. She was born in Harmony, June 8, 1841, the daughter of the late John and Sarah P. McGraw, and was the oldest of a large family. Practically all of her long and useful life was spent in Knox. Early in life she was a successful school teacher. She was unusually fond of reading and kept well posted on all the topics of the day. A kind neighbor and friend, a woman of sterling worth and character, yet quite unassuming in disposition, hers was a life spent largely in self-sacrifice for the comfort and welfare of her family and others. Her greatest happiness was in her home and family, to whom she was devoted until stricken with the disease which rendered her invalid; but she did her life's work so bravely and faithfully, her memory as a loving, faithful mother will linger forever. She leaves to mourn her loss, three children—Mrs. B. L. Aborn, Miss Flora J. Kennedy of Knox and William P. Kennedy of Raynham, Mass., and one grandson, W. Prescott Kennedy. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. David L. Brackett, who spoke words of comfort to the bereaved family. W. S. Jones of Brooks rendered two lovely solos, and amidst the beautiful flowers she had always loved so well she was tenderly laid to rest Wednesday afternoon.

Capt. Judson Torrey, one of the most prominent residents of Deer Isle, a retired shipmaster, died almost instantly from a shock while eating his breakfast last Sunday morning. He was 70 years old last Christmas. He went to sea nearly all his active life and for years sailed in the foreign trade in large ships, later in coasting and southern trade. His last commands were the schooners Morris W. Child and Carrie E. Pickering. He retired from the sea about 20 years ago and since that time had been town treasurer until recently. He is survived by his wife and three sons, Alvin J. of Bangor, Guy E. of Bar Harbor and Fred A. of Stonington. He was a member of the Marine Lodge, F. and A. M., and Harbor View Chapter, O. E. S.

Annie Chadwick, wife of Lewis F. Talbot, died May 30th at her home in Gardiner. She had been in poor health for some time, but was not thought to be in a serious condition until the Sunday before her death, when she suffered a stroke of apoplexy. She was born in South China, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cystodon Chadwick. Besides the husband, a sister, Mrs. Melinda Webster of South China, survives. The remains were brought to South China Monday for interment in the family lot.

Mrs. Lizzie (Carr) Gifford, wife of Clyde Gifford died May 21st at her home in Detroit, aged 26 years. She was the daughter of Henry Carr of Detroit. Besides the husband and father, two children, one of whom is a 5-weeks-old baby, a brother Ernest Carr of Detroit, two sisters, Mrs. Irving Benn, who lives in Massachusetts and Mrs. Inez Stone of Troy, survive.

Francis M. Heath, 65 years old, a well known farmer and fisherman of Verona, died suddenly last Thursday morning. He was carrying a pail of mortar upstairs when the collapse came without warning. Mr. Heath failed to rally and the end came soon after. He leaves a widow, and two sons, John and Oscar, of Chicago.

Arthur I. Saunders, a retired hotel man and a civil war veteran, died at his home, in Ellsworth, May 30th, aged 70 years. He owned and managed the American house in Ellsworth for many years. He was a brother of ex-U. S. Marshal Hudson B. Saunders of Portland.

The death of Rev. Charles S. Pitcher of Dexter, a native of Belfast, is announced but we are obliged to defer the obituary until next week.

THE MONTVILLE SCHOOLHOUSE CASE.

The case in equity of 25 tax-payers of Montville in the county of Waldo against the municipal officers and school committee of Montville, whereby it was sought to restrain the completion of a schoolhouse nearly erected and to enjoin the town from paying for the same, in which a decree has just been filed, is of special interest to municipal officers and school committees in this State.

It has been briefly reported in The Journal, but merits the fuller account which we find in the Kennebec Journal: "The school committee of Montville, Maine, have been ordered to restrain from completing a schoolhouse in said town, but did not recommend any particular location; whereupon a special town meeting was called to select a location to change the location to a certain lot about one-half mile distant from the old location."

In 1912, the school committee, disregarding the vote of the town, proceeded to erect a new schoolhouse on the old lot and in doing so did not use plans prepared by the State superintendent of public schools and did not submit the plans that were used to the State superintendent nor to the State Board of Health for their approval. It is required by statute that the town voted to build the schoolhouse, and that the school committee be permitted to put in the benches, building chimney and painting.

"At the March, 1913, town meeting the town voted to pay the bills for construction. Whereupon the aforesaid bill was brought up and after a hearing at Belfast, May 9, 1913, at which all the parties were present, it was decreed by the court that the bill be sustained and that the selectmen, treasurer and superintendent of the school committee be perpetually restrained from completing said schoolhouse and from paying out any money of the town for the construction thereof. Twenty-three different parties appeared for or against the restraining building, for which they have not been paid and for which they remedy seems doubtful.

"This case emphasizes the necessity for town and school committees to comply with the requirements of the statutes relating to public affairs. The petitioners were represented by Judge S. L. Fogg and Williamson, Burleigh & Leland of Augusta, and the respondents by Hon. K. F. Duntun of Belfast."

The Shoe Situation.

There is an increasing demand for footwear and most of the new business stimulates industry, as buyers and sellers are supplied of free saleable lines. Many manufacturers are in receipt of advance season contracts, the bulk of the orders placed for early fall shipment being for black calf and gun-metal shoes. Reports from local jobbers are more favorable and further material improvement is expected when the weather becomes more settled. No substantial trading is noted in the market as the outlook is for continued conservatism for some time to come.—Dun's Review, May 31st.

The News of Belfast.

J. A. Gammons returned to New York Saturday from a short visit with his father and sister, Mr. Albert and Miss Maude Gammons.

Mr. and Fred E. Smythe returned to Boston Monday after spending several days at their Northport Avenue residence.

The Webster Shoe Store, No. 16 Main street, Leroy A. Webster, proprietor, was opened for business Monday morning, June 2nd and the sales were good although the workmen did not get through until Wednesday noon. Mr. Webster is assisted by Norman Littlefield.

At a meeting of the Improvement Society June 2nd the matter of holding a public entertainment at the city park, voted at a previous meeting, was discussed but no definite plans have been made. The shrubs at the park have been cared for and the seats placed for the summer.

The bearers at the funeral last week of Mrs. Caro E. widow of the late Thomas Carter, were Messrs. Israel W. Parker, J. Granville Paul, Charles H. Twombly and Charles N. Black, old neighbors or members of the Baptist church, with which she had been so long identified.

Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Blair, Mrs. Sarah E. Pierce, Mrs. George W. Bartlett, Mrs. George W. Frisbie, Mrs. Aubrey G. Spencer, Mrs. Fred Rackliff, Mrs. Giles G. Abbott, Mrs. C. C. Glover, Mrs. C. E. Smith pastor, and the sessions of the Universalist State Convention.

Perhaps you do not know that cats are very fond of asparagus and are grateful for the butt ends of the stalks which their masters and mistresses find uneatable. When informed of this fact Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Shaw sent a liberal supply of this feline dainty to the cats at No. 4 Court street, for which Buster and Melibattle return thanks.

Miss Avis M. Morison, who had been in the Pasadena hospital for six weeks suffering from blood-poisoning, has sufficiently recovered to leave the hospital and is visiting Mrs. Ernie Carter Burke in Redland. She will arrive home the middle of June. Her aunt, Mrs. H. P. Adams with whom she had spent the winter in California, will make a trip to Alaska, go through the Canadian Rockies and visit Yellowstone Park, arriving in Belfast in July.

A Graphotype power machine, owned by the Addressograph Company of Chicago, has been rented by the City National Bank and was in operation yesterday under the management of Mr. L. H. Southard of Northport. It is the only Graphotype in use in New England outside of Boston. Both upper and lower case type are used and the letters are impressed upon aluminum cut cards. In place of a keyboard, letters, spaces, etc., extend across the front of the machine; an index operated by a side wheel indicates the letter or character and a small lever near the lower front center punches it into the aluminum card. A ribbon will soon take the place of the card and add materially to the power of the machine. The Addressograph is a separate machine and stamps the envelopes from the card. The bank's mailing list of 15,000 will be done by this machine. An expert can print 1,500 envelopes an hour, and 1,000 an hour is the general average. It is run by electric power and is practically noiseless.

AN INTERESTING ANNOUNCEMENT. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Cunningham have announced the engagement of their daughter, Rena Elsie, to George Stewart Dobson of Boston, formerly of Pittsfield. The announcement was made May 28th at a party given to Miss Rena's intimate girl friends at the Log Cabin on Beaver Tail during the social hour which followed a dainty supper served by Mrs. Cunningham. Miss Cunningham is one of the famous Belfast triplets, born about 23 years ago; two boys, Roy and Ralph and Miss Rena. They all bear a strong family resemblance and are strong mentally and physically. The groom is well and favorably known in Belfast, where he learned the plumbers trade with C. L. Wright and later was employed by Goodhue & Co. He now has a fine position in Boston. The marriage will take place this month.

EMERY DANFORTH'S BODY FOUND. The body of Emery Danforth came to the surface of the water early Wednesday morning, June 4th, near the shore on the east side below the lower bridge. On the evening of March 20th, after killing his wife, Blanche Leighton Danforth, he drank iodine, then dressed himself and told his little boys that he was going to drown himself. He left the house and had not been seen since. Many thought he was in hiding or had got away but others were firm in the belief that he had committed suicide. The body was discovered by Chester Robbins, who was in a rowboat, and he went at once to the Coe Mortimer plant and notified Coroner C. R. Coombs by telephone. Then, with the assistance of Charles Robbins, the body was towed to the east shore just above the bridge. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Danforth, and the sister, Mrs. Samuel Hodgkinson, were notified and the two latter went over and identified the remains. Mr. Coombs was told by the father that the family thought it best under the circumstances that the remains should be taken directly to the cemetery and interred in the family lot, and their wishes were complied with. The condition of the body bore out the theory that in his death struggles Danforth had grasped some obstruction on the bottom, and until this hold was loosened the body could not rise. The finding of the body also established the fact that Mr. A. R. Leadbetter, who was on police duty, heard Danforth when he jumped overboard, as he reported at the time.

WHEN SIG SAUTELLE'S CIRCUS COMES TO TOWN.

There are parades and parades. Mankind's love for pagentry display dates back to the days when the immortal Caesar brought many captives home to Rome. When, to give eclat to his fame, he entered the Eternal City with lavish display of glittering splendor, with fanfare of golden trumpets, chariots and beautiful maidens, who scattered flowers in the pathway of triumph.

So, Sig. Sautelle and his Aids, catering to that Great Critic, the Public, will present to the Good Folk of Belfast, Friday, June 6th, a replica of those olden, golden days—with modern, 20th Century accessories of the times. The circus will be a most interesting and enjoyable. The cages in his parade will be open. The wild and tame animals, behind secure iron bars, will gaze back at an interested and amazed public. Frantic steeds, golden chariots, Royal Bengal tigers, leopards, panthers, jaguars, hyenas, cougars, in fifteen funny clowns, to add humorous variety to the splendor of it all.

Those who delight in spectacular scenes should be early on the streets the morning of "show day." The wonderful spectacle will excite and interest all from kiddos to grown ups. Features of the Big Circus proper, the Hippodrome, Menagerie and Wild West will appear in winding line of scintillating pagant splendor. Don't miss it, Good People, as the ballroom so eloquently beseeches: "Will be the crowning glory of your lives. The keynote to revelry of keen enjoyment."

and Harper's Weekly to Norman Hearst good, and people are wondering if they will become yellow journals.Theodore Roosevelt has had no difficulty in proving by unimpeachable testimony that he is a temperate man, and there would be no difficulty in getting several million people to testify that they had never seen him take a drink.Gov. Foss of Massachusetts, who has posed as the workingman's friend and as the champion of reciprocity, now has troubles of his own. Over 2,000 men and women employed in plants controlled by him are out on a strike and before this is in type will probably be joined by 1,200 others. They asked for an advance in wages, and the Governor is forced to come out with a startling denunciation of his own party in which he says it is the Democratic tariff alone that prevents a possibility of granting the advance.
Yet he voted and used his influence for the party now in power, and in his first campaign for the governorship he promised reciprocity with Canada, although the governor of Massachusetts has no more to do with making such a treaty than the King of Siam. It looks like a case of "the engineer hoist with his own petar."The fact that W. R. Pattangall is at the head of a movement to have a referendum on the public utilities bill, with a view to defeating it, is the best of reasons for keeping the law on the statute books. The principal argument against it is that it will entail expense. The same argument would hold good against the courts, the reformatories, the hospitals and asylums. Then it is easy to see where a commission such as is proposed under this law could save money to the State by stopping leaks in public institutions, and investigation might show that in some instances State aid is not warranted and should be withheld.
Somebody is furnishing money to send a man over the State to obtain signatures to a petition for a referendum, and it would be interesting to know where this money comes from.The New York Sun asked the other day:Is there anybody who can say positively today what type of road construction should be adopted to meet the wear imposed by traffic and to resist the dis-integrating influences of the climate?The Sun did not attempt to answer the question itself, and evidently did not expect an answer, as it says further:Only one thing is known beyond peradventure about good roads. It is that the best roads are those that are most carefully tended after their construction is finished. An inferior road constantly repairs is far better than a much better road neglected. This is elementary.
But where are roads promptly and skillfully repaired as soon as breaks and worn spots appear in them?Here is another question that is likely to remain unanswered, unless some one has the courage to step up and say—no where!Forrest Goodwin has been laid in his grave and candidates for the place vacated by his untimely death are making their announcements. Ex-Congressman S. W.
Gould of Skowhegan and Ex-Attorney General W. R. Pattangall of Waterville are most prominent of the Democratic candidates, and Hon. Hannibal E. Hamlin of Ellsworth and Hon. Benedict F.
Maher of Augusta of the Republican candidates. The Progressive party it is understood will have a candidate in the field, and in this connection the names of F. M. Thompson of Augusta, Edward N.
Merrill of Skowhegan and George W.
Heslton of Gardiner are mentioned.Whoever it may be his candidacy will only serve to make certain the election of a Democratic Congressman. That is so plain a proposition that a blind man could see it. In this so-called Progressive party a good many honest, well meaning people are being made tools of by a few who have been barnacles on the Republican party, or disappointed in their political ambitions, and whose sole aim now is to destroy the party which fed them or had failed to accept them at their own valuation.The death of Hon. Forrest Goodwin is a great loss to the State of Maine. His brief but brilliant career at home had qualified him for the wider sphere of usefulness upon which he was about to enter at the National Capitol. It is a sad and sudden ending of what promised to be a long and useful life. Mr. Goodwin was a self-made man in the sense that he earned the money to pay for his education. He won honors in college, and on entering upon the practice of law rose rapidly in that profession. He was a ready and effective speaker, stirring his hearers to enthusiasm at the State conventions and during the campaigns of his party, in which he took an active part.
His was a personality that won for him during his college days, and later, many staunch friends, and they were not confined to his own political party. Many Democrats voted for him for Congress last September, not alone because of personal friendship but because they recognized in him the candidate best qualified for the position and who would do the State the most credit at the National Capitol. The news of his death caused universal sorrow throughout the State, and has called forth many sincere, heartfelt and eloquent tributes. The Portland Press closes an editorial eulogy as follows:

A face, wreathed in smiles, even when the smiles of others had been driven away by adverse circumstances; eyes which sparkled with humor or grew dim with tears of sympathy for others misfortunes; a hand which grasped the hand of friendship with the firm warmth of sincerity; lips which were eloquent and never lapsed words of reason or of unkindness; a heart so big that it could beat for all the world—these are the things which those who knew Forrest Goodwin will never forget as long as memory lingers.It is perhaps hardly necessary to call attention to the article captioned "The Church as an Investment." It speaks for itself, and in no uncertain terms.

The subject of church attendance is receiving wide attention today, which gives assurance that something may be done toward bringing the church to the people and the people to the church. The Atlantic Monthly has published several articles in which this matter has been discussed from the standpoint of the clergy and the laity, the church-goer and the non-church-goer. It is of course evident to every one that for years past there has been a gradual breaking down of sectarian barriers and a tendency of all denominations to get together and work together for the common spiritual welfare. With this has come a demand for the consolidation of churches, making one strong church of a number of weak ones; such a church to have a ministerial staff that could do mission work and hold services in outlying districts.But the theme of our contributor is "The Church as an Investment," and in that connection a local illustration comes to mind. The people of East Belfast have within recent years built Trinity Reformed church, and this summer will complete and dedicate the Mason's Mills chapel. To erect these edifices they have given freely of their time, labor and money. That they are better men and women, better citizens, because of their labor and their sacrifices in building these edifices no one can doubt. That alone is no small return; but in addition we believe that real estate in their vicinity is worth more today because of these churches and the spirit which prompted their erection. They fill the double purpose of social and religious centers, their Sunday schools are training the young in the way they should go, and both old and young share in the entertainments and socials which instruct and entertain and promote good fellowship. Belfast is deeply indebted to the Rev. William Vaughan, the pastor of these churches, through whose untiring and unselfish labors they were built.It may well have been the good work inaugurated by Mr. Vaughan that incited the people at the Head of the Tide to raise, renovate and improve their old church. Be that as it may they went to work with a will. Standing timber was cut and hauled to the mill, material and labor were donated, cash contributions received, and the women did their part by giving suppers and holding sales, until as the result of united effort the practically new and more attractive edifice was rededicated. We believe that every one who contributed money, material or labor will say today that it was a good investment."Cleanliness is indeed next to god-liness," to quote from a sermon by John Wesley, and it may be that to this revival of church spirit is due the Clean-up Days of which we are hearing so much at present. Every place which has experienced this purification is enthusiastic over it. It is sanitary, pleasing to the eye, and cannot fail to promote an uplift beneficial to every community.ROCKLAND SCHOONER CHASE IN COLLISION.BOSTON, May 28. Sch. Chase, from Boston for Sullivan, was in collision at 5 a. m. yesterday during dense fog 5 miles off Boone Island with barge Bristol, one of a tow which tug Watuppa was towing from Kennebec to New York. The schooner's bow was crushed in, bowsprit and headgear carried away, and she began to fill; three members of crew and cook's wife got into boat and were taken on board the tug; revenue cutter Woodward towed in the Chase and beached her one mile south of Rye Beach Ledge early this morning.The Chase is 89 tons net, was built at Setauket, New York, in 1851, and is owned by Charles E. Bicknell of Rockland.
She was in command of Capt. James W.
Thompson and carried one other man besides the captain and cook, John Nelson of Rockport, Me. F. M. Dinsmore, cook of the vessel, and his wife, who was making the trip with him, arrived in Boston Wednesday on the steamer Cape Ann from Gloucester and left for their home in Rockland on the steamer Belfast that evening. Mr. and Mrs. Dinsmore were in their bunks at the time of the crash.
Hastily dressing, they rushed on deck to find that the schooner was fast settling by the head.

A Bad Fire in Pittsfield.

Pittsfield met with a bad fire about 9 A. M., May 30th, when the post office building on the east side of Main street was badly damaged by fire in the upper part and water and smoke throughout.
The building was occupied on the ground floor by the postoffice on one side and John Gordon's grocery and meat market on the other. The second floor was occupied by the Pittsfield branch of the Direct Importing Co., and the H. H.
Thurrough law office. The fire is supposed to have been caused by the crossing of the electric wires where they entered the building.
The postoffice was cleared, all mail and belongings being taken to the rooms of the National Bank, where they remained until late in the afternoon, when the postoffice was put in condition to occupy. The loss to the postoffice is in damage to furnishings by water. John Gordon carried a stock of $3000, which was badly damaged by water and was partially covered by insurance. The Direct Importing Co. was damaged by water and smoke. It is understood the stock was insured. The building was one of the best wooden business blocks on the street and was insured.

meeting at 6.30 p. m. Visitors in the city, and all who do not worship elsewhere, will find a cordial greeting at these services.Mr. Edward Emery of the State Civic League occupied the pulpit of the Congregational church last Sunday morning, speaking on the work of the League and the essentials of good citizenship. Among other things he spoke of the neglect of many to attend the caucuses and primaries, and of absenting themselves from the polls. Many of the political ills of which citizens complain are due to this "stay at home vote." In the evening Mr.
Emery addressed a large congregation at a union meeting in the Baptist church. Rev.
Walter F. Sturtevant, Baptist, conducted the exercises; Rev. David L. Wilson, Congregationalist, offered prayer and Rev. Chas. B.
Ames read the scriptures. Mr. Emery spoke of the League work, taking for his text "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" His address was under three heads: Gambling, its practices and influence, the liquor traffic and its condition in the State, and the action of the State Legislature in investigating and impeaching the sheriffs. In this connection he paid a merited compliment to Gov. Haines and refuted some of the false statements made by his political opponents. What he said of the white slave traffic in Maine was a surprise to many of his hearers.

dying at the York hotel.We all regret very much the death of Hon.
Forrest Goodwin, Congressman of the Third District, and one of the ablest men in Maine.
He had relatives in this town.For the first time in our memory Wm. C.
Rowe, a veteran of the old 4th Maine, was Wright is to close with a grand concert in Specialties will be introduced.M. J. Dow has transferred his local interest in the "Chatham Mill Seed Grader and Cleaner" to the A. E. Chase Co. He will, however, act as agent for them. It can be made of much benefit to the farmers of Waldo county in the elimination of foul seed.We visited our old friend, Henry Bradlock of Knox, a veteran of the 4th Maine Vols., last Saturday and found him dressed and sitting in a big chair. His mind is clear much of the time and he can converse quite freely, but he is practically helpless physically, as the result of a recent shock.MEMORIAL DAY. The rainy forenoon interfered with the expected arrangements to some extent but eventually everything passed off pleasantly. Several hundred people were present in the afternoon. At noon a nice dinner was served in the banquet room, to which the Sir Knights, their families, their guests of honor and invited guests did ample justice.

Soon after dinner Capt. Cheney Higgins, Esq. the Knights into column of fours as a escort to the veterans. The school children formed at the rear. E. A. Carpenter, mounted upon his beautiful and intelligent horse Harry, took his place at the head of the column, the music started up, and the march, a great affair to a hundred school children dressed in their best and decorated with the national colors, was begun. They visited the new cemetery first, then went back and stopped at the bridge, thence to the old cemetery. In each place the usual ceremonies were performed, with Rev.
H. G. Booth as chaplain. Then they marched back to the Union church, which was solidly packed, and the indoor exercises were put through with the following program: prayer, Rev. H. G. Booth; singing, Prof. Wright and chorus; welcome to the visitors by Marcellus J. Dow, the presiding officer, in behalf of the Sir Knights and the people; response by Lorenzo Jones in behalf of the veterans; reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address by Miss Clara Jones, the granddaughter of a veteran; singing, Prof.
Wright and chorus; address by H. C. Buzzell, Esq., of Belfast; singing, Prof. Wright and chorus; benediction by Rev. H. G. Booth.
The entire arrangements were made by the Knights and they worked hard and intelligently to make the Memorial services as they should be. Mr. Buzzell made a fine address and Prof. Wright added much to the interest of the occasion. The ladies of the Pythian Sisters heartily cooperated as a body in the work and the tables were covered and the dinner served in a way that gave a cordial welcome to their guests. The versatile and energetic Charles E. Lane was present and his personality was shown in the generosity of the dinner supply. It was a quiet, serious, christian observance of a day now sacred to this entire Republic.

"Our George" is now a really and truly grandfather, and has "got the goods" at his home on Miller street to prove it.

We print but one chapter of the "Annals of Belfast" this week because of the demands of advertisers upon our columns.

The twin babies which recently arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gray have been named Arthur and Evelyn Darling. Mrs. Gray was formerly Miss Lillian Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker.

Thomas H. Marshall Circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., observed their regular memorial services for deceased members Tuesday afternoon under the direction of the Senior Vice President, Mrs. A. K. Fletcher. The ladies wish to extend thanks to Mrs. Spencer W. Mathews for the many beautiful flowers sent for Memorial Day.

The fourth in the series of whist parties for the benefit of the Home for Aged Women will be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Coombs, Northport avenue, this, Thursday, evening. Supper will be served at 6.30 o'clock, followed by a social hour and military whist. The ladies in charge of the tables will be usual bring linen and silver.

The 8th and 9th grades of the city schools, chaperoned by Mrs. Clarence E. Read, enjoyed a class ride to Saturday Cove last Saturday, leaving on three buckboards about 8 o'clock and returning at 6 p. m. They had their dinner on the beach and in the afternoon games on the common near Ellwell's store. On their way home a stop was made at Northport Campground.

LAW COURT. The June Law term of the Supreme Judicial court of the State of Maine was begun in Bangor last Tuesday morning. The following Waldo county cases will be heard:

New entries—Brackett vs Piper, Swift vs DuBois, Essex Fertilizer Co. vs Danforth, Kenney vs M. C. R. R. Co., Partridge vs Northern Me. Seaport R. R. Co., Waldron vs Moore, Sylvester vs Wood, French, by next friend, vs Hill, State vs Jones.

FIRE IN BELMONT. The house on the Thomas H. Wellman place, so-called, in Belmont, was totally destroyed by fire June 3rd. Mr. Arthur of Boston, who occupies the place as a summer residence, arrived that day to open the house for the season and after building a fire to warm it up went to a neighbor's. Soon after a blaze was discovered around the chimney and the fire had then gained such headway that it was beyond control. The house and L. were burned, but the barn was saved. The loss is about $10,000.

NOTICE. The books of the W. C. T. U. county treasurer will close June 7th—next Saturday. Send your dues right along. If any superintendent is so unlucky as to still have a report unsent, please send it. Brush up your knowledge of parliamentary laws, for the county superintendent has some questions to ask. Every union should be represented. Send names for entertainment over night to Mrs. Evie Twombly, Moore. A party will go from Belfast and return in the evening. Mrs. Livingston is worth hearing, and this 30th county convention will be worth attending.

PROPOSED ROAD CHANGES. It is reported that as a result of the hearing by the county commissioners in Northport last week on a petition asking for the straightening of the road on the Ellwell and Burd hills the commissioners have decided in favor of making a two-rod cut in the Ellwell hill. The matter of changing the Burd hill will be taken up at an adjourned meeting to be held July 22nd. In the meantime the exact boundaries will be ascertained by a survey. The only opposition to the proposed change comes from those who advocate a new suspension bridge over Little River, the boundary between Belfast and the town of Northport, above the present bridge, which would carry the road across the land of J. F. Wilson of this city. The raising and widening of the present bridge is also advocated and would certainly improve present conditions.

NORTH BELFAST. Henry B. Ladd, teacher of our village school, established a fine precedent last Thursday, when his pupils gave exercises in honor of Memorial day. He sent special invitations to the G. A. R. veterans to attend, and they with parents and other citizens made an audience of thirty visitors. The program was delightfully executed and reflected much credit upon teacher and pupils. The following veterans were present: Ripley Whitcomb, Corydon Emmons, Capt. E. W. Wiley, Capt. E. C. Merriam, Moses F. Hurd, Edward Mason, George Davis. Following is the program:

The pile of brick on the Main street side of the post office does not mean that Uncle Sam is to build an addition to the present building. To retain a tree on that side a considerable space needed for yard room was sacrificed and now it is found that there is not sufficient accommodations for the R. F. D. teams and some of the grass plot next to the building will be taken for an extension.

A citizen in every way competent to judge, who travels over most of the roads within the city limits, says it will require an expenditure of $30,000 to put the roads in as good condition as they were eight years ago. More money has been spent in recent years than formerly, but it has been spent in favored localities and the outlying districts and the sidewalks have been neglected.

The Maine Automobile Association has sent to the selectmen of every town in the State a printed copy of the law enacted by the last Legislature, prohibiting the placing of turf in the road. This law provides any town that leaves turf in the road shall forfeit its State aid road money. Towns losing their State money can place the responsibility on their selectmen and road commissioners.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Kittredge and Miss Anne M. Kittredge went to Vinalhaven last Saturday in Wm. A. Decrow's launch Louise, to take the remains of their mother, Mrs. M. J. Kittredge, who died Feb. 5th, there for burial. Vinalhaven was her former home. They had a Christian Science burial service at Carver's cemetery, and the first reader of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, F. A. Grindle, a nephew of Mrs. Kittredge, officiated.

BASE BALL. The University of Maine won from Colby in the State championship series' six to two, at Alumni field, Wednesday afternoon, May 28th. At Lewiston, May 30th, Bates defeated Bowdoin, 2-1. Bowdoin won their other game with Bates to clinch the pennant. The present percentage of the respective colleges is as follows: Bowdoin, 600, Maine, 500; Bates, 500; Colby, 400. Belfast High defeated Castine A. A., 12 to 0, on the Congress street grounds May 30th. The Belfast team was made up of local players, with the addition of Williams of Colburn, who played third base, and his playing, and the brilliant pitching of Frisbee, were the features of the game.

Old Town has dropped out of the proposed Eastern Base Ball League and it is expected to secure another team to take its place.... The organization of the Eastern Baseball Association has not been completed owing to the withdrawal of Old Town. Invitations have been extended other teams and it is hoped to organize later in the week.

A moose was seen in the neighborhood of Pitcher's pond last Sunday. It walked leisurely about as if conscious that it was protected by the game laws.

There was a red gleam in the street in front of The Journal office last Thursday, and as it was too early for sunset it attracted attention. It proved to be a passing cart load of the wheels and other gear of a new consignment of general purpose wagons just received by J. A. McKee, on the way to his stable on upper High street.

SOUTHERN WALDO State Librarian Prince has secured for the library a very rare pamphlet written in 1847 by M. Dakin, M. D., and entitled, Monterey or the Mountain City. The little book was "written in great haste," as the author states in his preface, and at the time he was about to go on a journey to New Hampshire and Massachusetts to visit relatives. The book is a description of the southern part of Waldo county, of the boundaries, lakes, rivers, soil and climate, geological features, natural scenery, religious, moral and literary institutions, number of inhabitants and of professional men and manufacturing resources. An appendix is added which gives a brief account of some of the islands of Penobscot bay. The author at the time of his writing little thought of the importance his few hasty words would bear in later years. The book itself is very rare, and the last copy to be heard of was sold at public auction a few years ago. M. Dakin was born in Islesboro.

NORTHPORT AVENUE AND BEYOND. On a recent ride to Northport some notes by the way were made. Mrs. Augusta G. Wilson has raised her cosy little house several feet and built a veranda across the front. She is a lover of flowers and cultivates them, and later her place will be a wealth of bloom. At the Ferguson Poultry Farm, next beyond, the chicken houses have been removed from the orchard and placed in a row south of the main poultry houses and the orchard has been plowed and will be cultivated. The old trees have been pruned and a number of young trees set out. On the opposite side of the avenue, the Myrick place (formerly the Mayo house) is for sale. Just beyond are the grounds of the Crosby estate and a big crew was at work building a stone wall along the front, and others were laying out driveways, etc. Mr. H. E. Knight continues to improve his place, formerly the Daniel G. Hinds farm. All the old fences and stone walls have been removed and the grounds graded, the barn moved nearer the house and practically rebuilt, etc. Mrs. W. H. Clifford has offered her place, farther down the avenue, for sale. The house, formerly owned and occupied by Capt. Hodgdon, has been greatly improved, and the grounds as well, and flowers, shrubs and vines make the place very attractive. Coming to what was formerly the Capt. Cunningham farm in Northport, we find two very good properties for sale—one owned by L. S. Southard, contractor and builder, and the other by G. C. Lywar, upholsterer, of this city. An addition has been built to the garage of Mr. T. George Dodsworth at the rear of his cottage on the North Shore. The campground cottages all seem to have undergone renovation and repair, and the Northport Hotel shows the good work done on it last season.

The 40-foot cabin cruiser Black Rabbit owned by Mr. Louis E. Pennington of Newark, N. J., a summer resident of Northport, was in the harbor last week, having had a successful run from her home port. The boat is painted white and has a black rabbit painted on each bow.

Thomas S. Thompson of East Belfast, who invented a new automobile spring tire on which he has patents pending, has received a large number of sets of tires made for him by a Chicago firm, and the different parts are now being assembled at the International garage in this city. Mr. Thompson will buy a touring car with which to demonstrate these tires. If they meet expectations, as it is confidently predicted they will, they will supersede all other tires in use, and there will be millions in it for Mr. Thompson.

CARLE & JONES HALF-PRICE SALE. We have had all kinds of sales in the past—fire sales, smoke and water sales, sacrifice sales, etc., etc.—but the half-price sale of Carle & Jones last Saturday eclipsed them all. This firm are liberal advertisers the year around, and when they announced a half-price sale their regular customers, and the public generally, knew that real bargains were to be had, and the two stores were jammed and besieged all day. Preparations had been made for a crowd, but Mr. Jones says that twice as many people came as expected and it was necessary at times to lock the doors until those inside could be waited upon. Twenty-one good clerks were employed, but even that number found it difficult to keep up with the demands of the eager customers. All day there was a crowd in front of the store waiting to gain admittance, until the rain in the afternoon drove them to the shelter of adjacent stores or doorways. People came from Liberty, Montville, Seaport and many other towns, and Carle & Jones regret that their island customers were unable to gain admittance. They were obliged to turn away 250 people after 8 p. m. There was no one in the store broken out with small pox, as some one reported, and equally unfounded was the story that the firm had lost many goods. The sale was perfectly satisfactory to Carle & Jones, and equally so to their customers. It was decided upon because trade had been slack during the spring, with every indication of a dull summer, and rather than carry a large stock over they concluded to turn it into cash. The stores were in good condition for business Monday morning, although Saturday night they looked as if they had been visited by a cyclone.

Paint?

There are two good reasons for painting often-enough or even too-often. One, to look prosperous; two, to be so. Nothing does one more credit or gives one more credit than paint; supplemented of course by what goes with it; and paint costs nothing. True, the first cost is $5 or $6 a gallon put-on; but it saves more than that in the property; saves it from slow going-down—not always slow—it drops with a jump when water gets in on wood and iron. Dry wood and iron cost nothing, keep dry by paint. Better paint when it needs it. Paint never goes down in the sense of being more profitable next year. MASON & HALL sell it. DEVOE

OLD HICKORY
The Ideal Outdoor Furniture

Put "Old Hickory" on Your Lawn

Then you will understand why people from coast to coast, who can well afford to pay many times its modest price, acknowledge "Old Hickory" to be the most comfortable chair on earth.

The design is pleasing, too. There's a kinship with nature in the smooth bark finish that appeals to the artistic sense. That's one reason "Old Hickory" is found in so many homes of culture and refinement.

Aside from the comfort and beauty, there is another feature equally unique to "Old Hickory." It is the only furniture made that will endure the strenuous usage that outdoor furniture receives, unharmed. Exposure to the sun and rain does not affect it in the least.

Whether you want a porch chair, table, lawn swing or settee you will find it here in this dependable brand. We have a very complete selection to show you. Make your choice early, so that you will get a full season's use.

BY AN OLD SETTLER
(Hon. Wm. G. Crosby.)

CHAPTER XV. (1820-1.)

On the 30th of September, 1820, died John Huse, Esq., aged forty-nine. Mr. Huse came here to reside in 1802 or 3. He was by trade a house-carpenter. Soon after coming here he was appointed a deputy under Thomas Phillips, Esq., Sheriff of the county; and it is as deputy sheriff and landlord for many years of the public house at the intersection of Main and High streets—long known as the "Huse Tavern"—that he is especially remembered. He was a man of commanding presence, of rather brusque manner, of quick wit, and a general favorite. Many amusing anecdotes might be told of him; a few must suffice.

Shortly after his appointment as a deputy sheriff a writ was placed in his hands with orders to attach property of a debtor residing in Greene Plantation who was as destitute of legally attachable property as a Nova Scotia crow. It was a hard ride in those days from the Beach to the residence of the debtor. On arriving there H. informed him what his orders were. "Now," said he, "turn out your property." "But I haven't got any," said the debtor. "How in—then?" was the reply, "can I serve the writ?" "Don't you see what the orders are, 'Attach property'?" If I can't attach property I can't serve the writ. Haven't you got some oats? "Well—yes—yes," said the debtor. "I've got a few bushels." "Very well," replied H.; "I would just as soon have oats as money for my fees; put a bagful on my horse and I'll serve the writ." The proposition seemed fair enough; the bag was filled, put on the horse's back and the writ served. The inhabitants of "Greene Plantation" have learned a good deal since then; they know better now than to pay an officer in advance for serving a writ on them. "Landlord," said a pert, pompous young man, with his boots well blacked and his hair "pomatumed," as he drove up to the door of the Huse Tavern, "If you've got anything decent give my horse a bating; I haven't seen a thing fit for a horse to eat since I left Boston." "Perkins!" said H., calling to his son, "Perkins! take this gentleman's horse round to the stable and give him a pint of beech-nuts and as many seed cowcumbers as he will eat; we don't give nice feed like that to common people's horses, Sir." A long, lank customer from the interior sold him a quarter of lamb one day; price fifty cents; remarking as an inducement to the trade that he would dine at the house. When the dinner-bell rang he was on hand in advance of the regular boarders, and by the time they arrived he had pretty effectively cleared one end of the table. Having finished his dinner he went to the office—bar-room it was then—and handed a dollar to H. with the remark that he wanted to pay for his dinner. H. quietly put the dollar in his pocket and went about his business. "I guess, Mr. Huse," said the guest, after waiting for awhile, "you've forgot to give me my change." "What change?" asked Huse. "Why I gave you a dollar," was the reply. "You only charge a man twenty-five cents for a dinner don't you?" "No," said H.; "that's all; twenty-five cents for a man—a dollar for a hog!"

The funeral services of Mr. Huse were at the "new meeting-house" on Sunday, the day after his decease. The sermon on the occasion was preached by Rev. Silas Warren, of Jackson; the choir sang that well known hymn by Dr. Watts, so full of comfort and consolation to surviving friends, commencing with,

"Hark from the tombs a doleful sound."

The remains of the deceased were followed to the grave by the Brethren of Belfast Lodge, of which he was a member, and by a large concourse of people from this and neighboring towns. In the fall of this year an event occurred which may be remembered by many now living, certainly by one of our oldest inhabitants, himself the sole survivor of twenty-one passengers who left this place for Boston on board the schooner Superb, McFarland master, on the 27th of November. Most of those passengers belonged here and were heads of families. The schooner was not heard from for seventeen days; the families of the missing ones were in a state of great anxiety and the sympathies of their fellow-townsmen were deeply stirred. News came at last of her arrival in Provincetown. She had been blown off, compelled to lay to for five days, lost her deckload and boats, and on the tenth day after leaving here succeeded in getting into Provincetown, the nearest port she could make. For five days they were without water except a small quantity of rain they were fortunate enough to catch, and for the larger part of the time without food. When they reached Provincetown many of the passengers were so exhausted that they could not walk from the landing to the nearest house. Their tongues were badly swollen and their vital energy so reduced that they were not permitted to take any nourishment for some days, except of the simplest and most easily digestible kind. It was a narrow escape they had from actual starvation, aside from the perils of the sea. Great was the joy of their friends and neighbors when news came of their safety. The sole survivor above referred to is our venerable friend and fellow citizen Mr. William Quimby.

During the winter of 1820-1 the weather up to the early part of February was excessively severe; at one time the Bay was frozen entirely across to Castine; which afforded occasion at the time for the very sage remark that "had such a severe frost happened while the enemy was in possession of Castine during the late war, great facilities would have been afforded for his dislodgement from that maritime stronghold of the State;" for "dislodgement" substitute "smuggling" and the remark quoted would be a sensible one; one which, probably, would have been practically illustrated.

This year, 1821, Belfast had her first notable experience in the matter of conflagration; it was quite a matter for the day, but was the merest "sprinkling," compared with the "baptism of fire" through which she has since then passed. On the night of January 2d a fire broke out in a large two story wooden building situated on Main street where the stores now occupied by Messrs. Albert C. Burgess and Blodgett and Co. stand; the first story was occupied by Ladd and Morrill, traders, and two of the chambers by Rufus B. Allyn, Esq. Attorney at Law, and Sylvanus Gallison, tailor; this building and a dwelling house adjoining, were entirely consumed. A wooden building standing four feet easterly from the one in which the fire began was saved by suspending sails from the roof and keeping them drenched with water carried up on ladders, in pairs. The Gazette of the 4th in giving an account of the event attributed the limited extent of the conflagration to "the exemplary alacrity with which the citizens assembled;" and to the fact that "the town pump was in good order." The "town pump" was on the westward side of High street in front of the building now occupied by the Belfast Livery Company. A double line was formed from the pump to the scene of the fire for the purpose of passing water and re-passing empty buckets. That was the day when "woman's rights" were recognized; among them the right to take her place in the line and pass the empty buckets; and nobly did she exercise the right on that cold, bleak night in January; and no man scoffed at her. Before the close of the year Ladd and Morrill had covered the burned district with a two story brick building containing three stores; it was the first brick building erected in town; the brick block on Main street with granite front now covers the same ground.

The good people of the village accepted the fire as a "Providential intimation of the duty they owed to themselves," and took immediate measures to give effect to the intimation by forming a Fire Club and providing ways and means for the purchase of an engine, fire-hooks, ladders, &c. An engine was purchased at the cost of $500 and an engine company organized; the same engine was afterwards called the "Vigilance." It did good duty in its day, but was at last thrown aside to make room for others of greater power and improved mechanism. After its place was thus supplied it was used for several years for "watering vessels;" it was burned in the great fire of 1873; a charred fragment of one of its brackes is in possession of the compiler, the only tangible memento of the first fire-engine ever owned in Belfast, or which he ever saw. A house for the horse and engine was built; its dimensions "20 by 12 feet on the ground, 8 feet high, shingled on the outside, with a plank floor." It was erected on ground now covered by Johnson's Block, stood there many years until it was removed to Franklin street near the southwestern corner of the lot now owned by the United States; it was demolished about the time the Custom House was built.

The Fire Club, styled the Belfast Fire Club, was originally composed of twenty-four of the most prominent residents in the village. Col. Daniel Lane was its President, George Watson, Esq., Vice President, Hon. John S. Kimball, Treasurer, Col. Philip Morrill, Clerk; Col. Lane, who died in 1873, was the last surviving member. Its Constitution provided that "every citizen of Belfast who shall furnish himself with two good substantial leather buckets, 12 inches in length and 8 inches in diameter, marked with his name, and a good substantial bag, 4 feet in length and 2 feet 3 inches in breadth, marked with his name, may become a member of the Club on subscribing to its rules and regulations and paying twenty-five cents." It is very apparent that the founders of the Club did not intend there should be any shirking of obligations assumed; for its regulations required "the President and Clerk to visit each member of the Club quarterly and examine the situation of his buckets and bag and report the condition of them to the next meeting." They also required "every member of the Club to constantly keep his buckets in some conspicuous and accessible part of his house, with his bag in one of them, where he may lay his hand upon them as well by night as by day." Provision was also made for the expulsion of any member who should be negligent in the performance of his duty. It was the almost uniform custom of the members to keep their buckets suspended in the front hall of their houses, near the front door; one or more of them may yet be found occasionally in the lumber-room of some of our old mansions. An improved organization of our fire department was regarded as rendering the continuance of the Club unnecessary and after awhile it ceased to exist. It was a useful and effective organization in its day; a similar one might render essential service in these days; especially in the event of an extensive conflagration like that of 1873.

March 21st, George Watson, Esq., sheriff of the county, being of the Federal persuasion politically, was removed from office and Leonard Jarvis, Esq., of Ellsworth appointed; the deputies under Sheriff Jarvis in this place were Nathan Swan, William Salmond and Stephen Longfellow.

On the 29th of March a store exclusively for the sale of cabinet furniture was opened in a wooden building on Main St., which stood about on the site of Dodge's Saloon; it was the first store of that description in the place. Sinkler (Samuel) and Varney (Loring) "having removed from Portland," were the proprietors. They were followed in May by Bridgman (Derrick) and Howard (Daniel), "late of Hallowell," who opened a Furniture Store at the "head of Main street nearly opposite the new meeting-house." The locality "nearly opposite the new meeting-house" is the same on which the brick store now occupied by H. H. Forbes stands; there was no building then to obstruct the view from the front door of one to the front door of the other, except the house now occupied by Edwin Salmond. They offered for sale, among other articles, a complete assortment of elegant gilt and tortoise-shell chairs; some of those chairs, now more than half a century old, are still in existence, the "gilt" terribly tarnished and the "tortoise shell" scarcely distinguishable in form and color from a dilapidated clam-shell. Mr. Bridgman died young; Mr. Howard at his residence on Miller street in 1866, aged sixty-five.

Among the additions to our business community this year were Shaw and Sawyer, saddle, harness and trunk makers, Heard Milliken, baker, Gershom F. Cox, dealer in drugs, paints and dyestuffs, and James Langworthy. Mr. Cox's was the first store established in the place exclusively for the sale of the merchandise above named. After retiring from trade he became a preacher of considerable eminence in the Methodist denomination; he is still living, but by reason of physical infirmity has ceased to labor in his profession. Mr. Langworthy, who upon coming here announced himself as "recently from Portland," commenced trade in the brick block on Main street erected that year. He afterwards erected the brick building on Church street opposite the Court House and for some time kept a store in the basement, occupying the upper portion as a dwelling. He died Nov. 22, 1853, aged seventy-five. Mr. Milliken carried on the business of baker for some years quite extensively. His biscuit, stamped with his initials, "H. M.", sometimes translated "His Majesty," became quite a celebrity. He removed from this place many years ago and died about two years ago at East Bridgewater, Mass.

There was no public celebration of "Independence day" in the place this year; but Manasseh Sleeper, Esq., having taken possession of the old "Huse Tavern" raised his sign on that day, bearing upon it the Coat of Arms of the new State; it was saluted with "three times three" and was thenceforth designated the "Maine Hotel." There was a large gathering at Searsom's on the same day, at which many of our people were present, "for the purpose of taking into consideration the subject of a new county on the westerly side of Penobscot Bay and river and southerly of the county of Penobscot." This was the entering wedge which finally split the old county of Hancock.

At the annual Fall meeting the whole number of ballots thrown was 160. Doctor Ebenezer Poor of this place was elected Senator; James McGrillis, Representative. At the annual meeting in the spring John Merriam, James McGrillis and Nathan Swan were elected Selectmen, Benjamin Whittier, Town Clerk. The whole number of deaths in town during the year was twenty-six.

OBITUARY.

Capt. Thomas Snowman of New Brighton, Staten Island, New York, died May 6th of heart failure. He was sick only a few hours. Had he lived until May 17th he would have been 87 years old. Capt. Snowman was born in the town of Penobscot and when quite young moved with his parents to the town of Brooksville. At the age of ten years he went as cabin boy on a ship, and followed the sea from that time until he was twenty years of age. His first command was before he was 20 years of age. He commanded many different vessels, among them several from Bangor. The brig Susan Duncan, the bark Molly Metcalf, the Nellie Carr and the brig Isola were among them. The summer of 1872 there was built for him at Castine the three-masted schooner Anna W. Barker of 30 tons, which he commanded until he retired from the sea. Capt. Snowman was married to Emily, the daughter of Eliza Condon of Brooksville, by whom he had one child, Emily. The wife died a few years after Emily was born. In 1861 he married Miss Eliza Tanner of Liverpool, Eng., and to them were born three children: Albert and William, now living in Boston, and a daughter, now Mrs. Amy S. Goodwin of Winthrop, Mass. Capt. Snowman had seven brothers, all except one followers of the sea: Michael D. of Deer Isle, 85 years old; Samuel P. of Sedgewick, 77 years; Sewell P. of Bluehill, 74 years; and D. A. Snowman of Caribou, 85; also two sisters, Mrs. Theodore Smith of Machias, 83 years of age, and Mrs. Jane Billings of Bluehill, 64 years. Elizabeth, the oldest son, has been dead 41 years. Alexander, the second brother, was killed on board of his vessel in 1852 by a block falling from aloft; Addison H., the fifth brother, died in the navy in 1864 and Jacob E. died at Yorktown, Va., May 6, 1862. Capt. Snowman was counted one of the best navigators in the State, and was known far and wide. He was a firm believer in a future life.

The pastor gave a very interesting address and Mrs. Philip Knight of Boston assisted in the singing and rendered the solo, "I Will Give You Rest," in a very charming manner. Miss Mary Cobb was accompanist. The Ladies' Aid supper was postponed on account of the storm. Friday night proved quite as stormy, but in spite of the inclemency of the weather a large company came out and made the affair a grand success. To the Supreme Judicial Court,

In Equity:

GRACE C. TIBBITTS of Alameda, County of Alameda, State of California, complains against the heirs of Charles Crooker and William D. Crooker, deceased, late of Bath, Sagadahoc County, Maine, whose names and residences are unknown to your complainant. FIRST: That Charles W. Coffin, Land Agent of the State of Maine, authorized by a Resolve of the Legislature of said Commonwealth, passed 18th March, 1829, for the consideration of three hundred dollars ($300) paid to the said Charles W. Coffin, Land Agent of the State of Maine, did sell and convey by deed to said Charles and William, their heirs and assigns, all the right, title, interest and estate which he had in and to all the islands therein specified, situated in Penobscot Bay, viz: Little Burnside, Saddle Island, Ensign Island, Horseshoe Island, Mark Island, and all the above islands being the same conveyed to them by Massachusetts and Maine by deed dated December 20, 1839, acknowledged December 21, 1839, recorded in Waldo Registry, Book 35, Page 332.

SECOND: Said Charles and William D. Crooker by deed dated August 10, 1846, released and forever quit-claimed to the State of Massachusetts all their right, title and interest in and to an undivided half of all the islands therein specified, situated in Penobscot Bay in the State of Maine, viz: Little Burnside, Saddle Island, Job's Island, Ensign Island, Horseshoe Island, Mark Island, and all the above islands being the same conveyed to them by Massachusetts and Maine by deed dated December 20, 1839, acknowledged December 21, 1839, recorded in Waldo Registry, Book 35, Page 332.

THIRD: That said Charles and William D. Crooker by deed released and forever quit-claimed to the State of Maine for themselves and their heirs and all their right, title and interest in and to all the islands therein specified, situated in Penobscot Bay, viz: Little Burnside, Saddle Island, Ensign Island, Horseshoe Island, Mark Island, and all the above islands being the same conveyed to them by Massachusetts and Maine by deed dated December 20, 1839, acknowledged December 21, 1839, recorded in Waldo Registry, Book 35, Page 332.

FOURTH: That the authority for this conveyance of said Charles and William D. Crooker to the State of Maine and for the payment of money for such conveyance appears in Chapter 385 of the Resolves of 1845, approved April 5, 1845, as follows:

CHAPTER 385.
RESOLVE. That there be paid out of the treasury of this State, to Charles Crooker and William D. Crooker, the sum of one hundred and ninety-seven dollars and twenty-five cents, the same being for one-half the amount of money paid, together with interest, for certain islands purchased of the States of Maine and Massachusetts; PROVIDED said Crookers shall reconvey to this State and Massachusetts the interest which they acquired in all the islands specified, situated in Penobscot Bay in said State, and as a matter of history.

FIFTH: That in the deed to the State of Maine it appears that two islands, Saddle Island and Mark Island, were omitted and not named, whereas the Resolve, Chapter 385 of the Legislature of 1845, shows that the reconveyance should be the interest which they (Charles and William D. Crooker) acquired in all the islands specified in the deed to them dated December 21, 1839. It being apparent that the date of acknowledgment was given as the date of the deed.

SIXTH: That subsequently the Commonwealth of Massachusetts near the year 1856 deeded all her interest in the public lands and islands situated in Maine to the State of Maine as appears in the public records of each State and as a matter of history.

SEVENTH: That the State of Maine by the Land Agent duly authorized and conveyed (by deed dated January 3, 1879, in right, title and interest to you and all the islands therein specified, situated in Penobscot Bay in said State, viz: Little Burnside, Saddle Island, Job's Island, Ensign Island, Horseshoe Island, Mark Island, recorded in Waldo Registry, Vol. 18, Page 9, to Frances L. Loezel, and said Frances L. Loezel by warranty deed dated September 6, 1902, recorded in Waldo Registry January 25, 1903, Book 238, Page 184, conveyed Little Burnside, Saddle Island and Ensign Island to your complainant, Grace C. Tibbitts.

EIGHTH: Wherefore said Grace C. Tibbitts prays that said deed of Charles and William D. Crooker to the State of Maine, dated August 10, 1846, be rectified accordingly so as to convey to your complainant, Grace C. Tibbitts, and Mark Islands to said Frances L. Loezel and her grantee, Grace C. Tibbitts, and that a copy of the order be endorsed on said deed or such other record be made to correct the mistake set forth above.

NINTH: Your petitioner prays general relief in the premises as may preserve her equitable rights and interests.

TENTH: Your complainant says that Charles and William D. Crooker are both dead, and that each left children, but where said children and heirs reside is unknown to her.

Wherefore she prays for such order of notice as the Court may deem proper.

By her Attorney, J. P. CILLEY, Power of Atty. recorded.

The pastor gave a very interesting address and Mrs. Philip Knight of Boston assisted in the singing and rendered the solo, "I Will Give You Rest," in a very charming manner. Miss Mary Cobb was accompanist. The Ladies' Aid supper was postponed on account of the storm. Friday night proved quite as stormy, but in spite of the inclemency of the weather a large company came out and made the affair a grand success. Mrs. Philip Knight of Boston, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Fuller.

To the Supreme Judicial Court,

In Equity:

GRACE C. TIBBITTS of Alameda, County of Alameda, State of California, complains against the heirs of Charles Crooker and William D. Crooker, deceased, late of Bath, Sagadahoc County, Maine, whose names and residences are unknown to your complainant. FIRST: That Charles W. Coffin, Land Agent of the State of Maine, authorized by a Resolve of the Legislature of said Commonwealth, passed 18th March, 1829, for the consideration of three hundred dollars ($300) paid to the said Charles W. Coffin, Land Agent of the State of Maine, did sell and convey by deed to said Charles and William, their heirs and assigns, all the right, title, interest and estate which he had in and to all the islands therein specified, situated in Penobscot Bay, viz: Little Burnside, Saddle Island, Ensign Island, Horseshoe Island, Mark Island, and all the above islands being the same conveyed to them by Massachusetts and Maine by deed dated December 20, 1839, acknowledged December 21, 1839, recorded in Waldo Registry, Book 35, Page 332.

SECOND: Said Charles and William D. Crooker by deed dated August 10, 1846, released and forever quit-claimed to the State of Massachusetts all their right, title and interest in and to an undivided half of all the islands therein specified, situated in Penobscot Bay in the State of Maine, viz: Little Burnside, Saddle Island, Job's Island, Ensign Island, Horseshoe Island, Mark Island, and all the above islands being the same conveyed to them by Massachusetts and Maine by deed dated December 20, 1839, acknowledged December 21, 1839, recorded in Waldo Registry, Book 35, Page 332.

THIRD: That said Charles and William D. Crooker by deed released and forever quit-claimed to the State of Maine for themselves and their heirs and all their right, title and interest in and to all the islands therein specified, situated in Penobscot Bay, viz: Little Burnside, Saddle Island, Ensign Island, Horseshoe Island, Mark Island, and all the above islands being the same conveyed to them by Massachusetts and Maine by deed dated December 20, 1839, acknowledged December 21, 1839, recorded in Waldo Registry, Book 35, Page 332.

FOURTH: That the authority for this conveyance of said Charles and William D. Crooker to the State of Maine and for the payment of money for such conveyance appears in Chapter 385 of the Resolves of 1845, approved April 5, 1845, as follows:

CHAPTER 385.
RESOLVE. That there be paid out of the treasury of this State, to Charles Crooker and William D. Crooker, the sum of one hundred and ninety-seven dollars and twenty-five cents, the same being for one-half the amount of money paid, together with interest, for certain islands purchased of the States of Maine and Massachusetts; PROVIDED said Crookers shall reconvey to this State and Massachusetts the interest which they acquired in all the islands specified, situated in Penobscot Bay in said State, and as a matter of history.

FIFTH: That in the deed to the State of Maine it appears that two islands, Saddle Island and Mark Island, were omitted and not named, whereas the Resolve, Chapter 385 of the Legislature of 1845, shows that the reconveyance should be the interest which they (Charles and William D. Crooker) acquired in all the islands specified in the deed to them dated December 21, 1839. It being apparent that the date of acknowledgment was given as the date of the deed.

SIXTH: That subsequently the Commonwealth of Massachusetts near the year 1856 deeded all her interest in the public lands and islands situated in Maine to the State of Maine as appears in the public records of each State and as a matter of history.

SEVENTH: That the State of Maine by the Land Agent duly authorized and conveyed (by deed dated January 3, 1879, in right, title and interest to you and all the islands therein specified, situated in Penobscot Bay in said State, viz: Little Burnside, Saddle Island, Job's Island, Ensign Island, Horseshoe Island, Mark Island, recorded in Waldo Registry, Vol. 18, Page 9, to Frances L. Loezel, and said Frances L. Loezel by warranty deed dated September 6, 1902, recorded in Waldo Registry January 25, 1903, Book 238, Page 184, conveyed Little Burnside, Saddle Island and Ensign Island to your complainant, Grace C. Tibbitts.

EIGHTH: Wherefore said Grace C. Tibbitts prays that said deed of Charles and William D. Crooker to the State of Maine, dated August 10, 1846, be rectified accordingly so as to convey to your complainant, Grace C. Tibbitts, and Mark Islands to said Frances L. Loezel and her grantee, Grace C. Tibbitts, and that a copy of the order be endorsed on said deed or such other record be made to correct the mistake set forth above.

Utica, Ohio.—"I suffered everything from a female weakness after baby came. I had numb spells and was dizzy, had black spots before my eyes, my back ached and I was so weak I could hardly stand up. My face was yellow, even my fingernails were colorless and I had displacement. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am stout, well and healthy. I can do all my own work and can walk to town and back and not get tired. I would not give my Vegetable Compound for all the rest of the medicines in the world. I tried doctor's medicines and they did me no good."—Mrs. MARY EARLEWINE, R.F.D. No. 3, Utica, Ohio.

Another Case.

Nebo, Ill.—"I was bothered for ten years with female troubles and the doctors did not help me. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and every month I had to spend a few days in bed. I read many letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound curing female troubles that I got a bottle of it. It did me more good than anything else I ever took and now I have cured me. I feel better than I have for years and tell everybody what the Compound has done for me. I believe I would not be living to-day but for that."—Mrs. HETTIE GREENSTREET, Nebo, Illinois.

DOUBT CANNOT EXIST

Investigation Will Only Strengthen the Proof We Give in Belfast.

How can doubt exist in the face of such evidence? Read here the endorsement of a representative citizen of Belfast.

Herbert E. Patterson, High St., Belfast, Me., says: "About four years ago I suffered from kidney complaint. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage and contained sediment. Often the passages were too frequent, then again scanty and attended by a scalding sensation. I used nearly every remedy I had ever heard of but without good results. I finally read of Doan's Kidney Pills and I at once procured a supply at Poor & Son's Drug Store. After taking the contents of three boxes I was cured and today I am in good health. It gives me pleasure to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to my friends and neighbors."

Road Commissioner Clark is out with a crew of men and road machine near P. prospect Ferry. It is said that Mr. Clark finds he will not have money enough and will ask for $2,500 next year. It is said that there will be more money raised next year to be worked out by labor, the same as done 40 years ago when Waldo County had good wide roads. Now as one rides along if they notice they will see the old ditch 4 or 5 feet outside of the ditches of today. Our roads have been narrowed up to 10 to 12 feet; that is the progression of this late day. The roads in town have been growing worse for the past 25 years.
